SITUATION IN MISSOURI TOWN IS MENACING

Railroad Officials Await Word from Governor Hyde Concerning Opening of Shops
SITUATION BECOMES SERIOUS
Disorders at Scattered Points Cause Alarm but Matters Gradually Quieting

SLATER, Mo., July 6.—Railroad officials awaited word from Governor Hyde before making further efforts for the reopening of the Chicago & Alton shops here, from which a crowd of over 500 strikers drove 18 strikebreakers yesterday. After the strikers had cleared the town of strikebreakers a dead line was drawn around the shops beyond which strangers were not allowed to pass, and guards were established at various points, they settled down to a policy of watchful waiting.

Strikers say they want no violence and do not expect to have any. They are frank to own, however, that they do not intend to permit the opening of the railroad shops with outside labor.

CHICAGO, July 6.—The strike of railway shopmen assumed a more conciliatory aspect today the sixth since the nationwide walkout and feeling became more general in rail circles during the last 24 hours showing a marked trend toward peace, despite disorders at scattered points. It was believed yesterday's exchange letters, between Chairman Hooper of the labor board, and Jewel, head of the shop crafts union, probably opened a way to negotiations for an early settlement controversy.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Several railroads entering Chicago reported a majority of the men still out on strike. Officials of a number of roads announced that after July 10 men who do not return to work lose all seniority rights and will be taken back only as new employees.

MOUNTAIN CABLE WAS WRECKED BY WINTER STORM

Used Principally By Tourists To Scale Glacier-Carved Peak of Half Dome

YOSEMITE, July 6.—Heavy snows last winter tore away the famous double cable which for several years has enabled daring hikers to pull themselves up to the top of Half Dome, a great glacier-carved mass of granite which rears itself 4900 feet above the floor of the Yosemite valley. Despite the loss of the cable, many summer visitors here are bold enough to try for the top anyway.

For years Half Dome was believed unscalable. Then Capt. George Anderson performed the prodigious feat of dragging himself up to the top by clinging to the cracks in the granite plate, driving pegs as he went. A rope later was strung up the side of the dome but this had to be replaced every year. Later Hall McAllister, San Francisco, donated a double steel cable, erected on stanchions, which for years has made the ascent of Half Dome possible for women as well as men.

Last winter an unusually heavy snow fall occurred in Yosemite and on Half Dome the depth of the fall was great. The right cable snapped like a cotton string and the left cable is down flat on the rock for perhaps more than 300 feet of the climb, making it difficult and perhaps dangerous for anybody to make the ascent unless he or she be equipped with a cool head and stout arms.

No plans for restoring the cable have been made as the government has no funds for such work.

CYPRESS TREE FALLS AFTER GENERATION

MOORE HAVEN, Fla., July 6.—The "lookout tree," a cypress believed to have been the largest in Florida and which had stood for ages near the shore of Lake Okechobee a short distance from the settlement of Belle Glade, has fallen. After withstanding violent storms, the big tree, 49 feet in circumference eight feet above the ground, toppled before a light gust of wind. Subsidizing of the waters because of the drainage of the Everglades had resulted in a settling of the muck ground which left its roots undermined.

At the base of the tree was an artificial mound of sand believed to have been carried there from the lake shore by mound builders who once were inhabitants of the territory. The Indians or pre-historic people buried man of their dead in the mound for numerous specimens of human bones have been recovered from it. One of the most interesting of these was a wristbone encircled by a crude handcuff, a recent discovery.

Dozens of Ambulances Pressed Into Service and Hospitals Crowded With Injured

NEW YORK, July 6.—About 450 persons were overcome by smoke when the northbound Jerome avenue express in the East Side subway, caught fire near Lexington avenue and Sixty-first street. Dozens of ambulances were summoned from nearly every hospital in the city. Mayor Hylan arrived to direct the rescue work. The accident occurred 75 feet under ground. The fire started in the motorman's box after a fuse had blown out. There was a flash of flame and smoke swept through the crowded train. When the emergency brakes were applied and the train came to a grinding halt, guards threw open the doors and passengers made a mad scramble to escape. The injured were stretched on sidewalks for several blocks.

Men, women and children filled the ten-car train. The guards attempted to fight the flames with hand extinguishers but failed. When firemen arrived, however, they soon succeeded in quelling the blaze, which in itself was small. Many of the firefighters were overcome.

Leaving Portland, the two, Sol Steinberger and Glenn Skoyman, will go up the Columbia river to the Snake and thence up that river to its source. They will portage across the Continental Divide to the Yellowstone lake and then down the Missouri river, over the Mississippi, up the Ohio and on to the headwaters of the Wabash.

Another portage from the headwaters of the Wabash will take them to the Maumee, which will carry them into Lake Erie, along the shore of which they will paddle to Buffalo where they will enter the Erie Canal, which will lead them to the Hudson river and on to New York.

SALT AND FRESH WATER SKIPPERS CONTEST ON LAKE

Yachting on Lake Harris, in Florida, Creates Great Rivalry Among Sportsmen

YALAHUA, Fla., July 6.—A yacht race, unique in that every craft was identical and that most of the skippers never had been aboard them before, was an event for today on Lake Harris, under the auspices of the Yalaha Yacht club, which recently received from Sir Thomas Lipton a perpetual cup to be competed for annually.

Lake Harris is in the central part of Florida and it was impossible for visiting skippers to bring their own craft, unless by rail. The Yalaha club thereupon hit upon the idea of issuing an invitation to the yachtsmen of Florida to come here, man the club craft and try their hand at fresh water sailing.

Members of the club own 15 or 20 speedy 16-foot racing machines, cat-rigged and identical in all measurements, including sail area, and the entire fleet was at the disposal of the visiting skippers, who were assigned vessels by lot. Each boat carries a crew of two men and the visitors who did not bring a sailing mate were permitted to select a "crew" from among the Yalaha yachtsmen.

The outcome of the races was expected to depend solely upon the sailing ability of the skippers because no craft had an advantage over another. Great rivalry resulted between the salt and fresh water men and the controversy over the sailing practice of the two was the outstanding feature before the start.
